

Breast health experts, options and personalized care

For a physician who specializes in you, choose Aurora Wilkinson Women's Center

When it comes to screenings, diagnosis and treatment of breast cancer, finding a trusted resource is important. The breast health program at the Aurora Wilkinson Women's Center is designed to help women stay proactive in their breast care.

Our breast health experts offer the experience and expertise to diagnose and treat breast cancer and other breast conditions. Dr. Sailaja Kamaraju, oncologist/hematologist is joined by fellowship-trained breast surgeon Dr. Julie Kepple, and general surgeons Dr. Michael Bergom, Dr. Thomas Derrig and Dr. Dennis Zagrodnik to offer unparalleled care. Dr. Andrew Dodd, plastic/reconstructive surgeon, offers women the option of reconstructive surgery following cancer and Debbie Hall, R.N., breast care coordinator, is here to help women navigate through the resources available to them as they face a cancer diagnosis. Our certified genetic counselor, Jenny Geurts, M.S., C.G.C., assists patients with understanding their cancer risks, discusses genetic testing options, and reviews cancer screenings and prevention recommendations.

We provide a full spectrum of services including:

- Digital and conventional mammography
- Comprehensive surgical management including the latest surgical techniques and breast reconstruction
- A breast care coordinator
- Genetic counseling
- Access to clinical trials
- Second opinion program

With a focus on treating the whole woman and a commitment to sensitive and compassionate care, the experts at Aurora Wilkinson Women's Center can meet all the needs of each individual right in their own community.

Please call 262-560-3700 to schedule a consultation with any of our physicians.
